Violated 'express command'

R-H newsman charged with court contempt

By MIKE FLYNN Record-Herald Editor

A charge of contempt of court was filed against a Record-Herald reporter Wednesday morning for allegedly violating an "express command" of Fayette County Common Pleas Court Judge Evelyn W. Coffman during a kidnap and extortion trial here over two weeks ago.

Ed Summers, 24, of Milledgeville, a Record-Herald reporter-photographer, was served with a summons by Fayette County Sheriff's Sgt. William R. Crooks ordering him to appear in Fayette County Common Pleas Court at 2 p.m. Friday, Aug. 9 for a hearing on the contempt of court charge. The contempt charge was filed late Tuesday in the clerk of courts office here.

J. Donald Ratcliff, Ross County Common Pleas Court judge, has been assigned to hear the charge

No warrant was issued for Summers' arrest and the posting of a bond was not

The newspaper published a story stating that Judge Coffman had charged Jack Lee Gordon, 20, of Washington C.H., younger brother of the defendant in the kidnap and extortion trial, with a contempt of court citation and had issued a bench warrant for his arrest.

Judge Coffman's "command" when he filed a news story with the Record-

Herald during the trial.

The younger Gordon had been granted immunity from prosecution to testify against his brother, Jay D. Gordon, 21, Staunton-Sugar Grove Road, and the other defendant in the case, Kenneth Haley, 22, of 1135 E. Paint St.

A mistrial was declared a day later after it was determined that jurors had read publicity in The Record-Herald concerning the trial which might be prejudicial

In the affidavit for contempt, Judge Coffman stated that "the news story identifying the absent witness appeared in the issue of said newspaper circulated on June 25 and that such act of said Edward Summers was calculated to and did impede the administration of justice by the court and constitutes a contempt of said court."

Washington C.H. attorney Robert L. Brubaker will be representing the state in the contempt of court hearing.

Last Friday, Judge Coffman invoked a "gag rule" on all lawmen in the county.

The judge's order forbids all law enforcement personnel in the county to take part in interviews or make extrajudicial statements relating to criminal and civil matters that might come before her court for judicial determination. The court order was filed last Thursday in the clerk of courts office

The judge said she does not want cases coming before her court to be tried in newspapers before she or a jury has a chance to hear them

JUDGE COFFMAN said she found it necessary to issue the order "for the purpose of regulating the conduct of all trials and proceedings related to the Common Pleas Court.'

She claimed that the Record-Herald on several occasions has printed information that had an influence on cases in her court.

All persons associated with law enforcement in Fayette County can be found in contempt of court if they violate the gag order, the judge said.

Fayette County Sheriff Donald L. Thompson and Washington C.H. Police Chief Rodman Scott have refused to comment on the order until they have a chance to study it further.

Rabbi Korff said the May 13 interview at the White House was arranged by Bruce Herschensohn, deputy assistant to the President. Herschensohn also provided a flattering commentary about the author for the back cover.

Staffers in the press office of the Western White House were providing duplicate copies of sections of the interview for distribution to reporters.

Rabbi Korff's committee published the $1.25 paperback and will print 300,000 copies in the next month, a key time in the Watergate impeachment proceedings. The committee gets the royalties, the rabbi said.

The tape-recorded interview contained a defense of the President's position, harsh criticism of the news media and some of the special Watergate prosecutor's men and a denial of any anti-semitism in response to reports of racial slurs in transcripts of some presidential conversations.

Russia, U.S. argue over Cyprus action

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) -The Soviet Union and the United States were at odds today over what, if anything, the Security Council should do about the Cyprus coup and the overthrow of President Makarios.

At the first council meeting on the crisis, the Soviets on Tuesday called for urgent measures to protect the independence of the island. But the United States, supported by Britain, said information from Cyprus was still too sketchy to make any decisions.

The 15-nation council adjourned to await developments, including possibly a visit by Makarios, who spent the night on Malta en route to London. No time was set for resumption of the debate.

In Tuesday's debate, Soviet delegate Vasily S. Safronchuk blamed the coup on the Greek Army officers who command the Cyprus National Guard. He said the Greek military government must bear responsibility.

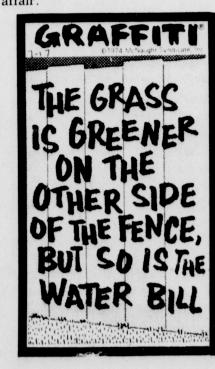

He called on the council to "take the most urgent measures to protect the independence, sovereignty and territorial integrity" of Cyprus. "Time will not wait," he declared. But he did not submit a resolution for council action.

Ambassador John A. Scali of the United States said his government supports the "independence and territorial integrity of Cyprus and its existing constitutional arrangements." But he said, "unfortunately, there is much ... we still do not know about the emerging situation on Cyprus, and it is difficult at this moment to see clearly whether and how the council can make

Court rules on voting machines

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) - Ohio's Supreme Court ruled today that there must be at least two voting machines in each precinct to comply with a constitutional requirement for the rotation of candidates' names.

The decision came in a case in which John L. Roof and Carlos A. Faulkner, in a taxpayers' action, sought to prevent Hardin County commissioners from entering into contracts for the purchase or use of voting machines They contended that only paper ballots could comply with a requirement that candidates in a general election must have their named alternated on ballots so that each "shall appear an equal number of times at the beginning, at the end, and each intermediate place, if any, of the group in which such name belongs.'

In a 6-1 decision, with Justice J.J.P. Corrigan dissenting, the court held that "when voting machines are used, Section 2, Article V dictates that among those methods of machine rotation, which are administratively and economically feasible, the only method that may be used is that which achieves the greatest amount of rotation.

"The method employed in Hardin County — precinct by precinct rotation was held unconstitutional because of the availability of a better method.

"That method consists of requiring that every precinct which utilizes voting machines be provided with at least two, and in any event an even number, as distinguished from an odd number of voting machines.

Westmoreland loses bid for nomination

COLUMBIA, S.C. (AP) - Former Army Chief of Staff William C. Westmoreland's bid for the Republican gubernatorial nomination has ended in a crushing defeat for the retired fourstar general.

Dr. James B. Edwards, a Charleston dentist serving his first term as a state senator, was a runaway winner for the GOP nomination in Tuesday's primary

The Democratic nomination will be decided in a July 30 runoff between Charles "Pug" Ravenel, a 37-year-old investment banker from Charleston, and Rep. W.J. Bryan Dorn, the two top finishers in a seven-man Democratic Democratic Gov. John C. West was limited by law to one four-year term. Edwards, 47, swept easily by the 60year-old Westmoreland, former commander of American forces in Vietnam, by rolling up a 9-1 margin in his home county and running close behind Westmoreland in other areas of this traditionally Democratic state.

Political observers said neither the Vietnam War nor the Watergate scandals affected the outcome of the first statewide Republican primary in South Carolina history.

They attributed the results to a small GOP turnout and the fact that many long-time Republicans, especially in Charleston County, voted for Edwards, who has worked for his party during the past 10 years. Westmoreland had returned to his native South Carolina only two years ago.

In previous years, the GOP had nominated its gubernatorial candidate in convention.

A surprise loser in the Democratic primary was Lt. Gov. Earle E. Morris. In the Republican gubernatorial primary, with 1,316 of 1,640 precincts reporting, the vote was Edwards 19,468 and Westmoreland 13,885

In the Democratic gubernatorial race, with 1,281 of 1,640 precincts in, the vote was Ravenel 74,163; Dorn 73,212; Morris 55,832. Four other candidates trailed badly.

amounts already appropriated, the state will distribute to school districts within the next 11 months an amount almost equal to $20 more per pupil. Many districts are in financial trouble as a result of the defeat of various levies in the May primary.

Among some of the other spending proposals that will go before the legislature are those setting up an experimental program of mass transit for the elderly, increases in benefits for retired state employes, and one that requires the state to pick up the tab for transporting Ohio's mentally retarded

Pickets from the Ohio State Government Employes Association one of the newest and smallest of the organizations which represents state workers—at one point filed into the outer office and waved their signs that could be seen by the legislators through a window

The same group picketed the Statehouse throughout the day but said they were not on strike

Earlier, House Speaker A. G. Lancione, D-99 Bellaire, accused the pickets and strikers of "taking the law into their own hands" and said the legislature "won't give in to coercion."

Lancione said he deplored threats made by another union, which claims a total of 7,000— the American Federation of State, County, and Municipal Employes-that it intended "to shut down the state." The speaker said "They can't do it."

Otherwise the conference committee agreement provides: -$2.1 million for transporting Ohio's mentally retarded pupils.

-$2 million to provide free mass transit for elderly citizens from Jan. 1 to July 1, 1975.

-$1 million for establishment of an Ohio Industrial Development Center. -$5 million to help the state retirement systems fund benefit increases for retirees, mostly those who retired prior to 1955.

-$800,000 for improvements, including a swimming pool at the State School for the Blind in Columbus.

-$150,000 for architectural fees for the new medical school in northeastern

-$500,000 for improvements and renovations at Central State Univer--$50,000 for Bowling Green State University to create an educational museum. -$1.2 million to help cities meet additional costs of police and firemen's pension programs. -$800,000 for special subsidies to county boards of education.

-$270,000 for the Department of Natural Resources to take over two Lake Erie parks in Cleveland.

Those allocations would be added to previously approved amounts of $14.9 million to retire Vietnam bonus bonds and $12.5 million as the state's matching share of vocational education construction.

All told, the committee is recommending to the legislature the supplemental appropriations bill totaling $124 million. The revenues would be derived from the newly announced state surplus of $80.4 million, along with $43.5 million in expected profits from the state lottery which goes into operation Aug. 12.

Special Counsel John Doar and minority counsel Albert Jenner are to present a number of proposed articles of impeachment to the committee Thursday, each one supported by facts culled from the mass of evidence the staff has compiled.

The failure of the staff to include facts that would speak against each proposed article has led to protests by the Republicans, and they have assigned Deputy Minority Counsel Sam Garrison to provide them.

GOP to quit full payment of Ford trips

WASHINGTON (AP) - Top aides of Vice President Gerald R. Ford, reviewing the mounting expenses of his cross-country travels, have decided the Republican National Committee has been paying more of the cost than is

From now on, they say, the GOP will only pick up the tab for that portion of a trip directly related to politics. In the past, the party has paid for all of any trip that included a political appearance.

When Ford flew last month to the Air Force Academy in Colorado Springs Colo., then stopped at a GOP fundraiser in Columbus, Ohio, on the way home, the party paid for the whole thing, the aides say.

Ford's basic policy is that the government pays for official trips, speeches to organizations, dedications of hospitals or dams and speeches to legislatures. The party pays for political trips and picks up the tab for his staff on rest stops.

An examination of Ford's bills and receipts, made available to The Associated Press by press secretary Paul Miltich, confirms that the GOP committee has picked up thousands of dollars in costs over the past few months beyond those from strictly political ventures.

"The basic rule was that, if any stop on a trip was political, the trip was political," says L. William Seidman, Ford's assistant for management. "We wanted to make sure the government didn't pay for anything political."

But Seidman, who has been in charge of making Ford's vice presidential operation more efficient, discovered that the national committee was often paying the cost, but not getting any reimbursement.

In a five-day mid-May trip to Hawaii, the committee paid the entire $40,860 cost of a presidential jet on a trip that included six appearances, two political, in Honolulu; two vacation days on the island of Hawaii (where Ford paid for his room); and two political appearances in Tacoma, Wash.

Stock list down again

NEW YORK (AP) - The stock market sagged today in a lazy summer session on Wall Street.

The noon Dow Jones average of 30 industrials was down 5.16 at 770.81, and gainers trailed losers by nearly 5-to-1 on the New York Stock Exchange. Trading was very slow.

Analysts said the market atmosphere was dominated disappointment over the failure of last Friday's explosive rally to carry any significant momentum into this week.

U.S. Steel was the most-active NYSE issue, down \(\frac{7}{8} \) at 44\(\frac{3}{4} \). A 25,800-share block traded at 45.

On the American Stock Exchange, the market-value index was up .23 at The NYSE's composite index of all its

State employes

None of the other three unions involved in the pay dispute has scheduled a meeting on the proposal.

The legislative committee's offer, which still must be approved by the entire legislature, would provide a 30cent raise for state employes making $8,000 a year or less, a 20-cent raise for those making $8,000-$12,000 and a 10cent boost for those earning more than

King said the AFSCME "deplored" the closed committee sessions at which the pay raise was ironed out.

'That's no way to conduct public business," he said Karl Stewart, executive secretary of the 21,000-member Ohio Civil Service Employes Association, said members of his union would offer the legislature another pay raise bill following an OCSEA convention in September.

The organization has told its workers to stay on the job while it negotiates with the legislature.

"There's nothing to meet about," Stewart said Tuesday after hearing the committee proposal. "Anything less than 31 cents an hour is unsatisfactory. It simply is not enough to meet the needs of our people.'

James Magan, executive vice president of Teamsters Local 796 in Cleveland said he was not satisfied with the proposal, "but you could only split the pie so many ways. If it's the best they can offer, then we'll see what the union members say.'

Magas said the Teamsters, who represent 2,600 employes, want the state to guarantee amnesty to members who have participated in the walkout.

Robert Tenenbaum, news secretary for Gov. John Gilligan, said it would be up to each department to determine whether to take disciplinary action.

Magas said strike votes were scheduled early today for more northeastern Ohio transportation and liquor control department employes. Herschel Sigall, director of the Ohio

Government Employes Association, urged any of its 4,000 members on strike to return to work Neither the OCSEA or the OSGEA has sanctioned the walkout.

Devastating problem

A major new report on alcohol and health reinforces the conclusion that excessive use of alcohol has a devastating impact on our society. A few years ago the United States surgeon general called alcoholism the nation's number one health problem. The new study lends this judgment further emphasis and also stresses that the economic cost is even greater than had been supposed.

Three years ago the National Institute on Alcohol Abuse and Alcoholism estimated the cost of alcoholism and related problems at 15 billion dollars. Now the Institute tells us that the cost actually is more than 25 billion, including 9.35 billion in lost production of goods and

The tremendous waste embodied in these outlays, which could otherwise be devoted to pressing domestic needs, is obviously a matter for grave concern. Other aspects of the report are even more

One of these is its summation of evidence showing a swift rise in alcohol abuse among teen-agers. We are told that in some surveys 36 per cent of high school students say they get drunk at least four times a year, while among high school seniors one in seven report getting drunk as often as once a week.

The report also discusses the serious health hazard in excessive drinking, particularly when associated with heavy smoking. The message is inescapable: Immoderate use of alcohol sharply increases the risk of contracting potentially fatal disease. That, combined with the multi-billiondollar costs of alcohol abuse, makes this a problem which merits far more corrective attention than it now receives.

The Russians are hungry really wants a detente with the West in matters of trade and technological help. It is not so obvious that the U.S. is in a position to drive good bargains with the Kremlin. There must be some basis for maneuvering on our part, however, for the Russians, in meeting American businessmen in Moscow, show no hesitance when it comes to talking about present and future deals. Senator Henry Jackson's insistence that the Soviet must grant more freedom of emigration to "ethnic" minorities, mainly Jewish, if it wants most-favored-nation trade treatment does not seem to be holding things up at the levels where individual deals are being made.

For example, Fred T. Allen, the chairman of the board of the Pitney Bowes Company of Stamford, Conn., journeyed to Moscow recently to talk about selling postage meters, mailing machines, and addresser-printers for zip-coding mail in the Soviet Union. At a symposium held at the Central Administration Building in Moscow, high-ranking officials of the Soviet Ministry of Telecommunications and Post, the Ministry of Science and Technology, ther Ministry of Foreign Trade and the State Committee for Publishing and Printing were all on hand to welcome the prospect of getting something, anything, that would help speed the Soviet mails. In fact, a first order for 65 postage meters and mailing machines had already gone to a Pitney Bowes Finnish subsidiary. Since the Soviet post office distributes some 40 billion newspapers a year over the vast Russian distances, any possible worries over what Senator Jackson might do to hold up a trade bill Jackson might do to hold up a trade bill in the U.S. Congress were not sufficiently strong to keep the Russians from buying $70,000 worth of postal equipment "off the floor" while Mr. Allen was talking.

MEANWHILE, Mr. Allen was busy ARIES doubling as a delegate to another symposium staged in Moscow by the Stanford Research Institute. As one of a hundred chief industrial executives of

It seems obvious that Brezhnev the Western world who were SRI delegates, Mr. Allen listened to discussions about a prospective flow to Russia of oil drilling, steel mill and other heavy equipment to help take the lag out of Soviet industry. During five days of talking about a 20-year program no worry about any political confrontation with the U.S. Senate was mentioned.

My own conclusion, which may or may not coincide with any Pitney Bowes or Stanford Research Institute opinion, is that Senator Jackson is entirely justified in thinking the Soviets need U.S. technological help more than we need Russian orders for Western machinery. The conditions seem ripe for more intensive bargaining about a political and social quid pro quo for U.S. technological help.

Many of our businessmen don't relish taking any chances about roiling the waters of detente. Armand Hammer of Occidental Petroleum, for instance, might prefer to work out his deals on a most-favored-nation basis that made no reference to the state of civil liberties inside Russia. But not all businessmen feel this way.

A.H. Pitchford, of Pitchford Industries, Inc., a Pittsburgh manufacturer of scientific analytical instrumentation equipment, was so depressed by the rerpessive conditions he witnessed inside the Soviet Union that he intends to refuse selling anything to Russia unless we get some Marian and the second s

His personal narrative of his Russian trip presents a picture of a "weird and spooky" country in which nobody dares to smile in public. He is convinced that the Soviet Union is so afraid of trouble with the Red Chinese that it will go on accepting trade with the West on any basis. "Scoop" Jackson might be interested in Mr. Pitchford's analysis.

This columnist continues to get a better picture of what goes on inside Russia from Radio Liberty's monitored reports than he does from anything that comes out of Moscow from resident Our foreign correspondents. correspondents are obviously still hobbled by the political necessity of keeping their accreditations intact. The unpublished diaries of visitors are invariably more revealing than wire service stories. From one such diary, written by the wife of a delegate to a scientific meeting in Baku, I got a most horrifying and memorable picture of the oil slicks spreading over the Caspian Sea for as far as the eye can see from an airplane. In Russia car owners remove the windshield wipers from their parked cars in order to forestall the presumably certain theft. Such details come through in unpublished diaries, not in published

All of this convinces me that Senator Jackson can get something out of the Russians by pressing his case. If he can't, it won't hurt us: the Soviets are obviously in no condition to fight a big civil liberties concessions for our aid. war before rebuilding their industries.

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) - "Commodore Buckeye" has a light-hearted look. But his message is serious.

He's spreading the Ohio Division of Watercraft's safety guidelines to the nearly one million Ohio boaters.

There have been 60 boating accidents and 19 boating deaths since Jan. 1, according to Tom Smith, watercraft division chief. While Smith's prognosis for the remainder of 1974 is not as grim as last year-177 accidents and 71 deaths - his division has been carrying on an extensive educational campaign. Commodore Buckeye — a cartoon character with a nautical cap set on his plump buckeye figure — is featured in a pamphlet called "Boating in Ohio." 'We had 400,000 copies of this pamphlet printed," Smith said. "We're passing them out with each new registration, and our watercraft education and enforcement officers are distributing them at state parks."

Each weekend field officers, together with Coast Guard instructors, lecture on boating safety at a different state

"Last week they talked to 1,200 people at Kelleys Island," Smith said. 'This weekend, they'll be at Indian Lake.

Ohio law does not require boat operators to have a license. Only the watercraft must be registered.

I feel this house is half mine and I should be able to get up and go into the living room in the middle of the night without worrying about someone seeing me half nude. I'm eight months pregnant, so I get up a lot, and I don't like to put my robe on each time.

I think if Joe wants to get plastered he should make other sleeping arrangements. (Like a motel) What should I do? Grim and bear it for my husband's sake? Or tell Joe how I feel? I'm afraid if Joe killed himself driving home, my husband would blame me.

HAD IT WITH JOE DEAR HAD IT: If Joe comes to your house plastered, ask your husband to escourt him home. Drunk drivers kill not only themselves they kill innocent people.

AP Television Writer "Close-Up" series takes a badlyneeded look tonight at a question we rarely hear much about - the adequacy of the health care this wealthy nation provides the children of its poor.

The one-hour show, which concludes that such care is woefully lacking, deserves an "A" for intent. Alas, it also deserves a "D" for execution in its attempt at telling a compelling, difficult story.

It is over-written, dispassionate to a fault and weighed down by various studies that have all the right figures, all the strong conclusions and none of the impact television can and should

"This is a program about a stark, painful reality," narrator Herb Kaplow observes in the show. "It's about families who find it difficult or impossible to pay for medical care for their children. And so it's about inadequate care or no care at all."

Moments earlier, an impoverished. Appalachian mother has recounted NEW YORK (AP) — ABC News' fine how a doctor at a hospital emergency room turned away her seriously ill son because she couldn't immediately pay for the boy's hospitalization.

She says when she told the physician she lacked both cash and medical insurance, the doctor told her: "Well, just take him home and give him some aspirin.'

This is intended to be the reality of which Kaplow speaks, but nowhere do we learn any details - the type of insurance she meant, the nature of her son's illness, or even the name of the doctor and what he might have to say in his own defense It seems to typify a basic flaw in the show, a reluctance to stray from easily researched statistics for detailed stories of children who need and aren't getting adequate health care.

There are several heartbreaking interviews with such children and their parents, but no specific follow-ups, no grillings of the officials directly responsible for seeing that the kids are

Sam Dash defends committee report

WASHINGTON (AP) — Samuel Dash, the Senate Watergate committee's chief counsel, says that after 15 months of investigation "you're damn sure that certain people are guilty of certain things.

But it would have been grossly irresponsible for the committee to have spelled out in black and white its conclusions as to exactly who may have violated which laws, Dash said in an

"If we had come to conclusions or drawn the final inferences that could be drawn from the facts we would rightly be the subject of criticism and outrage from the public, the legal profession and the Congress," Dash said.

He commented after hearing reports that some staff lawyers and investigators were bitter that the panel's final report drew no conclusions and that certain sections of the final report had been condensed or deleted.

"This was an excellent staff and one of the things that made them so good is that they were hunters, they went after the jugular," Dash said. "But hunters are not necessarily the ones to write a final report," he said.

"They have to be kept on leash." Dash himself wrote many conclusions into his first draft of the Watergate break-in and cover-up section of the panel's final report. He had long argued that such conclusions be made a part of the final report based on the weight of the evidence before the panel.

"I did change my position," Dash said. "I changed it after it became clear that such conclusions by the full committee might ruin all the trials being planned for this fall by the spepreliminary impeachment proceedings before the House Judiciary Com-

Dash said there may be a few staff members who disagree with the committee's decision and who "want to get the last drop of blood or the last turn Answers. of the knife."

Bacteria battles infant mosquitoes

MACOMB, Ill. (AP) - A scientist says he has discovered a type of bacteria that can kill infant mosquitoes by the billions, has no apparent effect on the ecology and could save millions of

The bacteria could be a potent weapon in fighting malaria, said Dr. Samuel Singer, associate professor of biological sciences at Western Illinois

Malaria is transmitted by the anopheles mosquito and kills about 10 million persons worldwide each year, Singer said in an interview Monday.

The racket-shaped bacteria attack tiny tadpole-like mosquito larvae growing near the surface of ponds, lakes and other water bodies.

The bacteria, known as bacillus sphaericus, are cultivated in a pale broth, and one cupful would be enough to control mosquitoes in the average farm pond or lake, said Singer.

The approach would also help control yellow fever and other diseases transmitted by mosquitoes, Singer said. He said it is likely that other bacteria could be used to kill black biting flies and the tiny water snails that transmit parasitic worms.

"It's not as important that we've found something to kill mosquitoes as it is that we are starting a kind of approach," said Singer. "That approach is to use a disease that's found in nature to fight the insect.'

In the past several decades, mosquitoes commonly have been controlled by use of chemicals such as DDT. But research in California shows that mosquitoes have developed a resistance to such chemicals.

Singer said the chemicals also pose a threat because they accumulate in the creatures that feed on the mosquito larvae, eventually working their way up the food chain to man. 'That's the reason there's such a danger," he said. "That's a very potent poison. Singer said he first isolated the bacteria in 1972. He said he has since improved their potency by selective breeding and hopes for commercial production within five years. Tests on the bacteria's effectiveness which began in Nigeria last year will be continued this year, he said. No results have been announced.

The research is being conducted with the assistance of the World Health Organization and grants from the National Science Foundation and Western Illinois's University Research Council.

Welcome Wagon Club holds 'Nearly Wed' party

Welcome Wagon Fetes the future brides with a 'Nearly Wed' Party.

Future brides worked out many of their wedding details at the 'Nearly Wed' party held on Monday evening in First Baptist Church. The Welcome Wagon hostess, Mrs. Max Forsythe, opened the program by explaining the Welcome Wagon purpose to them. Each one of the brides-elect talked of their future and introduced her guests.

The future brides and their guests were: Miss Patricia Jordin with Mrs. Lucille Jordin, Miss Julie Blake and Mrs. Robert Blake, Miss Barbara Amonette and Mrs. Robert Summers, Miss Robin Morris, Miss Karol Clevelle and Miss Debby Rice, Mrs. William Clevelle and Mrs. Dwight Holloway, Miss Elaine Hoppes, Mrs. Maynard Hoppes and Mrs. Loren Hays, Miss Toni Kelly with Mrs. Pearl Knisley, Miss Nickie Kelly and Mrs. Cid Yeazel, Miss Diana Lynch with Mrs. Emrum Lynch and Mrs. Glen McCoy, Miss Mary K. Sollars with Mrs. Herbert Sollars, Miss Linda Lower with Miss Kathy Dennewitz, and Miss Lisa

Miss Josephine Roush presented the program "Flowers on Parade." She and her sister Jeannette said they wanted to stress "back to gardening." They decided the best way to do this was growing flowers from seeds or plants and then presenting them for others to see. They started March 9 to sow seeds to prepare for this July

They worked long hours with this project. Seeds and plants and later flowers had to be watered regularly, fed with fertilizer. Plants had to be transplanted many times from seed flats to larger containers or another place in their garden.

The Roush sisters constructed a small green house in order that their seeds and plants could get the proper light, heat, etc. before planting them out-doors. They planted many kinds of flowers. These included marigolds, geraniums, petunias, snap-dragons, caladiums, glads etc. because they thought they would be ready to show in

They decided on container gardening to 'show off' many of their flowers and plants. By using these 66 containers they were able to bring flowers to their door and even inside their home. Container gardening permits one to be merman gave the invocation. Reports creative. They suggested filling the containers with good organic soil. The new possibilities of the many decorative and movable containers are endless, made unique and important by the right planter, thriving greenery brings color to patio, balcony or any room of ones home. Miss Roush concluded her talk by saying the right plant in the right pot is a thing of beauty indoors or out. It is immediate accent, instant color where you want it and when you want it. She invited members and guests to view the garden after the meeting.

Mrs. Robert Meriweather, president, conducted the business meeting and welcomed a guest and former club member Mrs. Claude Davis

Fayette County Fair premium books were distributed. Mrs. George Trimmer, Flower Show chairman, said all eight entries for the flower show had been taken. The theme will be "Weather Is Beautiful." Exhibits must be in place by 12 noon. Thursday, July 25 and judged at 12:30 p.m. by an accredited Ohio Association Garden Club

Mrs. Maryon Mark will provide a place for a workshop July 19th at 1 a.m. Members making arrangements for the fair flower show are urged to attend to get helpful hints and suggestions for their arrangements.

Mrs. Mark reported on the recent county garden club workshop at the Fish and Game Lodge. She told of the Japanese arrangements made by the instructor, Mrs. Howard Junk of Frankfort.

Mrs. Merriweather appointed Mrs. Hugh Smith, Mrs. Orville Bush and Mrs. William Still to serve on a calling committee.

The annual OAGC Convention for 1974 to be held July 31 through Aug. 2, 1974 at Stouffers Inn, Cincinnati, was discussed. Members were urged to geraniums and white petunias made an attractive entrance to the patio. The rose garden and vegetable garden were enjoyed along with the many plantings of flowers; snapdragons, glads, asters, daylilies, delphinium, marigold, zinnias, phlox. Many ornamental shrubs and trees made a lovely background for flowers and plants.

Housing, mortgage slump is worst on record

NEW YORK (AP) — The nation's the association says savings banks in and the Federal Reserve's tight money housing and mortgage slump has grown into the worst on record, according to some bankers and builders.

Inflation and tight money have crippled banks' ability to provide mortgages. Building material costs have skyrocketed and supplies are Bankers in Boston and Seattle say they're out of money for mortgages and a contractor in Annapolis, Md. complained recently he couldn't find nails for carpentry work.

With most consumers now largely priced out of the housing mortgage markets, John M. Wetmore, director of economics and research at the Mortgage Banks Association, said many banks now extend mortgage credit only to top executives of companies which do business at the bank.

'Sure it's discriminatory," he said, but added that there seems no other way to distribute what little money a bank has to lend in mortgages.

One such local VIP, who declined to be quoted by name, recently bought a $50,000-plus home in Glenwood, Ill., a Chicago suburb. He was a general manager of a local business, and had tried eight lending institutions before one finally gave him a 7.8 per cent

"I got my mortgage through what you might call 'influence peddling.' The bank told me the mortgage market was tight and I told them I'd help them to a certain extent with a savings deposit. I used money and clout," he said.

It's an ugly picture for most other home shoppers.

The Commerce Department says home building declined 11.1 per cent in May from the previous month, and 38 per cent from a year ago. Building permits for the nation declined 43 per cent in May from a year ago, and reached the lowest level since April 1967. Last year, 2.06 million permits were issued, but this year, according to Michael Sumichrast, economist for the National Association of Home Builders, the figure will be more like 1.45 million.

Construction firms must pay anywhere from 2-5 per cent above the bank prime lending rate, which now stands at about 12 per cent at most banks. Smaller contractors often pay even more. The higher interest rate translates into a bigger price tag on a new home. The cost of the average new home has jumped nearly $20,000 since

In an effort to relieve the situation. the Nixon administration last May committed up to $10.3 billion in credit to bolster the nation's sagging mortgage and home building markets. Some of that money, to be raised on the open markets rather than from the U.S. Treasury, will be channeled into the hard-pressed savings and loan associations that provide much of the nation's mortgage money. Much of the rest will be used to subsidize lower interest rates through existing Federal Housing Administration home mortgage insurance programs.

Bank mortgage loans are hard to get anywhere, and in some places virtually nonexistent. Through May, the nation's savings and loan associations granted $18.18 billion in loans to home buyers, down a whopping 20.4 per cent from the comparable period last year.

Interest rates on conventional mortgages for both new and previously occupied single family houses in June averaged 8.84 per cent, according to the Federal Home Loan Bank Board.

The board said rates for new homes compared with 8.74 in May and 7.79 per cent in June 1973. For previously occupied houses, the earlier rates were 8.67 and 7.79 per cent.

But the range varies widely from state to state, depending on local usury laws designed to prevent lenders from charging excessive interest rates.

In eight states, Illinois, Ohio, New York, Missouri, Minnesota, Alabama, Vermont and West Virginia, the highest interest allowed by usury laws is 8-81/2

By contrast, Virginia sets no ceiling on interest rates. In Wyoming and Utah it is 18 per cent and in Rhode Island, 21

Bankers argue that housing and mortgage activity is at its lowest in those states where usury laws are toughest. The laws designed to protect the consumer have rebounded against him, they say, and should be repealed.

"Banks have just stopped making new mortgages," said a spokesman for the Savings Bank Association of New York. From a peak of $4.9 billion in mortgage commitments in April 1973,

New York had commitments of only $3.15 billion as of May 31, 1974.

What is plaguing the nation's savings banks and savings and loan associations is "disintermediation," a process where money that ordinarily would be invested in savings accounts is instead withdrawn in huge amounts, attracted by the much higher returns offered by Treasury notes, certificates of deposit, commercial paper and other debt vehicles in the open money

That process, spurred by inflation few, if any, rolling out the welcome mat policies, has largely dried up the traditional sources of mortgage loans. In the last three months alone, New York State's savings banks suffered an outflow of some $740 million. The state's banks had net outflows in all but three of the last 13 months.

Tight money policies have sent the federal government scrambling with industry for the few dollars that can be raised in the nation's credit markets. An Associated Press survey of banks in a number of major cities showed for mortgage shopper.

Shortages of building materials and skyrocketing material prices have dogged the industry and driven the price of the average home beyond reach of many. The median price of a new American home now is $41,000. Last year, it was $32,000, and in 1970

Material costs and shortages are named the number one problem for home builders in a recent survey by the National Association of Home builders. The problem had never been mentioned before in 25 years of such surveys.

Labor situation smoldering

By JOHN CUNNIFF

AP Business Analyst NEW YORK (AP) - While tentative any time in well over a year. signs are appearing that the fires of inflation might be cooling, economists in business and government are keeping a wary eye on the smoldering labor

Wages have trailed price increases for many months now, and some economists believe labor won't be content merely to make up lost ground.

Fearing such a move, Arthur F. Burns, Federal Reserve Board chairman, already has suggested a return to voluntary wage-price controls to restrain increases considered dangerous to economic stability.

Labor, however, is likely to strenuously oppose any reimposition of controls, blaming them for its weakened position relative to prices. Spendable earnings in May were 4.6 per cent lower than a year earlier, and wages this year.

per capita disposable income was lower in the first quarter of 1974 than at

Some indicators already reflect an acceleration in wage increases. Average hourly earnings for the private, nonfarm economy, to cite an example, rose at a yearly rate of 11.7 per cent in the second quarter, double the first-quarter rate.

Increasing wage pressures might be felt as the year wears on. The First National City Bank notes that fewer than 10 per cent of some 5.2 million workers scheduled for collective bargaining this year settled in the first quarter.

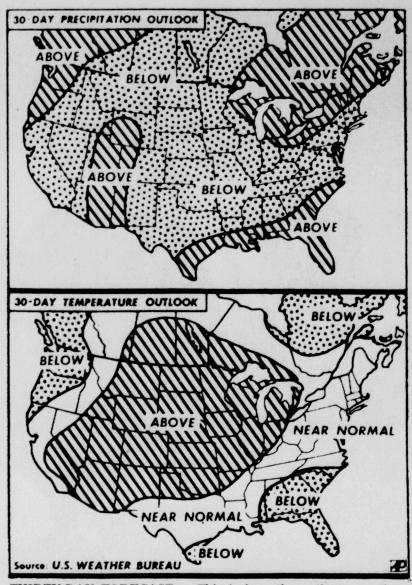

Ironically, higher wages could be both cause and effect of higher prices, since cost of living increases already are written into many major contracts. First City estimates that escalator clauses alone could add 5 per cent to

While pressure increases for higher incomes, the bargaining power of labor is somewhat weakened by over-all economic conditions, and it is widely believed in business circles that the jobless rate may rise to 6 per cent by December.

In fact, the present 5.2 per cent rate is considered by some to be misleading. They note that for the first four months of the year the labor force failed to expand, suggesting a large number of dropouts.

One statistic shows the jobless rate among married men at 2.6 per cent, the highest since October 1972. Another shows the manufacturing work week and the amount of overtime declining for about a year.

In terms of bargaining power, therefore, labor might not have the strongest position. But in what it considers to be just—that is, to at least keep pace with rising prices -it is strongly motivated.

Associated Press Writer NEW YORK (AP) - There are beer was dispatched with the 29th and sandwiches waiting in the dressing room for Steeleye Span, a British folkrock band touring in America this summer. It's in the contract now.

"Times before, we didn't know Steeleye's manager. "We used to eat Procol Harum's leftover food and send the roadie out for Cokes.

Tim Hart, a guitarist who moved out of the folk pubs to help start Steeleye in enough to ask for it," said Joe Lustig, 1969. "You lay out a lot of money. If audiences don't like you, you lose. But if you break in America, the rewards are much bigger.'

Claim farmers took giant step step forward" last year and that it was just the beginning of a bright future. "It was a year of unmatched achievement for American agriculture, Butz said Tuesday in an annual report to the President. "Yet it signaled what I believe is only the beginning of a new era, an era marked by freedom and opportunity for farmers unequalled in the history of our republic."

However, Butz did mention there were some sour notes on the agricultural front, some of them caused primarily by decisions of the Nixon administration to impose price controls last year. In a year that could only be termed a giant step forward for American agriculture, both U.S. farm prices and that all-important net farm income moved up a third in value," Butz said. Farm exports almost doubled in value. Yet, it was not a year of unmixed blessings for all farmers; the weather saw to that, as did the fuel crisis, the fertilizer shortage, and the rising costs of production.'

At the other end of the food chain, Butz said, consumers saw food prices rise sharply

"Worse, they saw the kind of market disruptions which can be brought about by inserting price-freezing monkey wrenches into our finely tuned machinery of supply and demand," Butz told Nixon.

"We learned once more than when you take away the opportunity for a man to make a profit and take away the hope and expectation that he can keep WASHINGTON (AP) - Agriculture some of that profit for himself, you Secretary Earl L. Butz has told have taken away the essential President Nixon farmers took "a giant ingredient that makes U.S. agriculture work and that which makes it the envy of the world," he said. Butz had opposed last year's price curbs and has spoken out frequently about their effects on farm output, particularly on livestock production. These effects, he has said, still are being felt and were partly responsible for large backlogs of cattle which, when they did move to market, caused prices to plummet during the spring.

"Livestock output fell during the year, largely due to uncertainty which resulted from government's interference in the market place," Butz said in his report to Nixon.

John Lindsay set for film work

 ${\bf PARIS}\,({\bf AP})-{\bf John}~{\bf V}.~{\bf Lindsay}, {\bf who}$ retired as mayor of New York this year, is getting back into the spotlight via motion pictures and television.

It was announced on Tuesday that Lindsay will play a U.S. senator in a film about Arab hijackers and next year will become a television commentator on a new ABC-TV morning show, "AM America."

The movie, "Rosebud," is being filmed here and in Israel and is being produced by Otto Preminger.

Lindsay, in St. Malo, France, said he is expected to start filming his part in Paris next week.

Grenadiers to subdue Boston, British Harum or Jethro Tull. They are headlining most of their dates this year, bands have been coming to America. going down well with audiences and "America is a real gamble," said collecting favorable reviews.

Steeleye - five men and Maddy Prior's clear, soaring soprano - applies the idiom of electronic rock to English traditional music. They play reels and rounds and sing pastoral ballads in five-part harmony with electric fiddle, three amplified guitars and rums. The name, Steeleye Span, is that of a hard-eyed wagoneer in an old, country tune.

On three previous American tours,

Steeleye was a supporting act, a band to put on before headliners like Procol

The band has had three chart-rated albums in England and turned an unaccompanied Latin chant into a successful single there last Christmas. They are comfortably successful at home and perhaps on the verge of breaking in this country.

It is not just artistic compulsion that carries British bands to America. There are very real financial limits in England, said Hart; only a handful of performers can sell more than 100,000 albums, a small number by American standards, and few halls outside of London seat more than 2,500 people. Two months on the road and you hit every stop worth making.

"No matter how big you are, you can't really make that much money in England," he said. "One major success in America and you can live the rest of your life."

Hart, 26, pulled a silver tobacco tin from his pocket and rolled a few strands of Boar's Head into a neat, thin cigarette. "Damp tobacco," he announced. "Better for you."

Steeleye lost $45,000 on its first three American tours, he said, money fronted by their record company and recouped by last Christmas' hit single. This trip, he said, they may break even, could make some money and might just break out big.

Some of the signs are already there: hotel clerks' no longer ask three times for the spelling of "Steeleye;" there was a press party in New York, the first for the band in the city; and they are headlining, which Hart said could mean the difference between a $5,000 concert fee and the $750 paid supporting acts.

But it is still Holiday Inns and Hertz cars this trip; there are no limousines waiting at airports, not yet.

Silver Bridge weakness aired during testimony

Initial testimony in the first of the Silver Bridge suits against the statecontinued until Oct. 21 after two days this week-centered on the quality of inspections performed on the Ohio River structure before its collapse.

Lawyers for the claimants say that when the hearing resume, they will produce experts to prove the state Department of Highways (formerly the State Road Commission) knew about structural weaknesses in the suspension bridge but did nothing.

The Silver Bridge, linking Point Pleasant in Mason County with Kanauga, Ohio, collapsed during a wintertime rush hour on Dec. 15, 1967, plunging vehicles and persons into the icy Ohio River and killing 46. Since the state of West Virginia had owned the 40year-old bridge since 1941, 56 claims totaling $6.4 million have been filed against the Highways Department for death, injury and damages.

Both sides have agreed to let the three-judge Court of Claims decide with two cases if the state is liable. If the state is judged liable, the rest of the cases will determine damage amounts.

The panic and chaos of that December evening were far from the hearing Monday and Tuesday, as engineers and lawyers discussed structural flaws and stress in the somber opulence of the state Senate

Lukens demands probe of LSH

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — U.S. Rep. Thomas A. Luken, D-Ohio, called for a Justice Department investigation into the death of a patients' rights activist at Lima State Hospital June 7.

Officials of the hospital for the criminally insane said that Freddie L. Bobbs Jr., 36, of Cincinnati, apparently hanged himself.

Hospital officials were unavailable for comment on Luken's request for an investigation.

Luken made the request by letter to Michael Lottman, deputy director of the U.S. Department of Justice Civil Rights Office of Institutions and Facil-

Luken, in the letter released here Tuesday, said he was concerned about the death for several reasons. He noted that:

-Bobbs, in a letter June 2 to Mrs. Cheryl Grant, an attorney, said he was in need of help. He asked her to contact his family. She is also an administrative aide to Luken.

-Bobbs' family told Luken they felt Bobbs was too weak from hunger to hang himself. He had not eaten for two weeks prior to his death. Mrs. Dorsha Bobbs, his mother, contends the death "was not of his own doing."

-Bobbs had told his parents he feared he would be poisoned if he ate hospital food. Bobbs had complained medicine administered to him gave him abdominal pains.

-William White, Bobbs' attorney, complained of difficulty in being admitted to see his client in May.

-Bobbs was transferred to Lima from the Ohio Penitentiary without a court hearing. Bobbs had been sentenced to 10-25 years in prison for armed robbery in 1967.

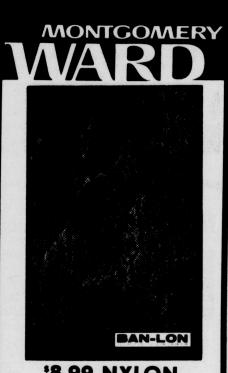

-An autopsy report on the cause of death still is not available a month after Bobbs' demise.

-The body was released to a Lima undertaker without permission of the family. The body was later taken back to the hospital and later released to a funeral director selected by the family. Luken has asked for an examination of marks on the body.

-Bobbs was quartered in the maximum security ward which was investigated in 1971 by a special grand jury which returned 31 indictments against hospital employes.

Luken said "many of the same employes are still working at the institutuion.

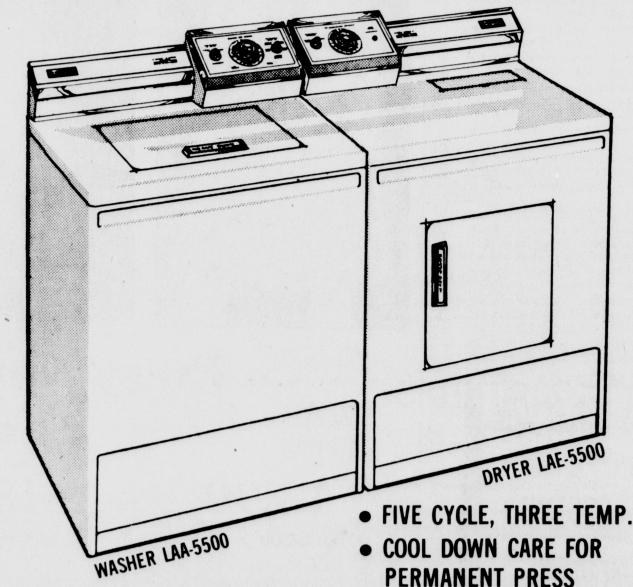

-At the time of his death, Bobbs was seeking release from the institution through a suit filed in U.S. District

The communities are eligible to receive the funds under guidelines established by the Gilligan administration and determined by the Ohio Bureau of Employment Services. Department of Ohio Administrative Services is in charge of administering the program. The counties, mostly small and rural, do not meet population requirements established by the federal government.

"Although the counties in question don't qualify for these kinds of funds under the federal Department of Labor guidelines, I feel it is important that the state make these funds available particularly in those areas hit by unemployment," Gilligan said.

The governor noted that the original allocation from the Department of Labor was $1,268,000, but through the work of the Bureau of Employment Services that amount was increased by 107 per cent to $2,628,600.

"The bureau did an outstanding job in refining the statistics and finding ways to include more counties in this year's allocation," Gilligan said.

County governments will receive more than $1.3 million of the total; cities nearly $500,000 and state government around $800,000. The funds are for fiscal year 1975.

Larger cities and counties which qualify for direct comprehensive employment and training act funds have been allocated $8.5 million for fiscal 1975.

Neighboring counties and amounts were Clinton, $32,900; Highland $39,400; Pickaway, $15,300 and Ross,

60 lake camp sites opened

HUNTINGTON, W. Va. - Brigadier General Kenneth E. McIntyre, Huntington District Engineer of the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers, announced today that 60 camping sites have now been opened at the Taylor Road camping area of Paint Creek Lake near Greenfield.

County, state fairs previewed at Rotary

Previews of upcoming fairs were given to members of the Washington C.H. Rotary Club during the regular weekly luncheon meeting Tuesday in the Country Club.

The program was rather a traditional one for Rotary Club members since every year at this time they receive a preview of the Fayette County Fair.

THIS YEAR, however, Rotarians received a sneak preview of the Fayette County Fair, which will open here Sunday, and the 1974 Ohio State

Vic Lucas, formerly of Greenfield and general manager of the Ohio State Fair, said that preparations are beginning for the annual exposition.

He said a number of improvements have been completed, including the construction of a new building to replace the swine barn which was destroyed by fire. The building, which cost over $1 million, was manufactured at the Armco Steel Corp. Metal Products Division plant in Washington C.H., Lucas, said.

Lucas said the Ohio State Fair operates on a $2.25 million annual budget and has 120 year-round employes.

The fair's general manager said that a 760-car parking garage is being constructed on the exhibit building next to the Fairgrounds Coliseum. Besides handling parking for fair patrons, Lucas said the parking area will be used for all other activities and events staged in the Fairgrounds Coliseum.

Rotarians learned that a new tractor pull course is being constructed at the state fairgrounds. Lucas said the popular state tractor pull event will have a $13,000 purse this year and officials expect the attraction to be even larger next summer.

A new kiddyland section has been added to midway section of the state fairground, according to Lucas. Children under 12 years of age will be able to ride free all day on the rides in that section.

Six top entertainers have been booked already for the fair. Lucas said the popular Tony Orlando and Dawn will open this year's exposition and others appearing will be country-western singers Johnny Cash, Roy Clark and Mac Davis. The rock music group Seals and Croft will also be performing along with comedian Red Skelton and Liza Minelli.

Before closing, Lucas presented a film which was found accidentally in the archieves at the state fairgrounds. The 10-minute promotional film was taken during the 1930 state fair. One of the more humorous portions of the film was the 4-H Club style show as Rotarians compared the style show of 44 years ago with the clothing of today's youngsters.

Eddie Kirk, president of the Fayette County Fair Board, told Rotarians that "the enthusiasm is starting to build" as the 1974 Fayette County Fair rapidly approaches its debut here Sunday afternoon.

Kirk said the popular Bob Braun 50-50 Club show will open the Fair on Sunday evening. On Monday night, free grandstand admission will be offered at the harness racing program. The regular harness racing program will be staged on Tuesday and Wednesday nights, according to Kirk.

A tractor pull contest, an event which has gained increasing popularity in the surrounding area recently, will be held on Thursday night.

The crowd-pleasing demolition derby, always one of the top drawing cards at the Fair here, will be staged on Friday and Saturday nights.

Kirk said the Fair will feature a larger midway entertainment section this year.

EIGHT FAIR board members were introduced by Kirk. They were Alan Wilt, Dr. Dick Junk, Leroy Barton, Frank Weade, Malcom Bloomer, Roy Hagler, Robert Cannon and George Finley, a member of the Rotary Club who arranged Tuesday's program. Kirk also introduced John Gruber, Fayette County agricultural extension agent, and Jack Sommers, Fayette County 4-H agent, as ex-officio members of the board.

Later, Finley asked for volunteers to handle the usual ticket-taking chores at the grandstand. The Rotary Club provides this service for the fair each

During the business meeting conducted by club president Paul Crosby, final plans were completed for the club's annual bus trip to a Cincinnati Reds baseball game. The Rotarians will be attending the Cincinnati-Chicago game Thursday night in Riverfront Stadium. It was announced that the chartered bus would be leaving from Ben Montgomery's Union 76 service station at 5:15 p.m. Thursday.

A number of Rotary Club members attended the club's annual assembly session held Tuesday night in the Terrace Lounge.

Visiting Rotarians were Gene Garrison, Bob Montenaro and Ottie Hockman, all of Mount Sterling, and Darrell French, of Wilmington. Guests were David Finley with his father, George Finley and Charles Dodds with Don Kirk. Dodds coached the Rotary Wheels baseball team to a cochampionship in the Washington C.H. Little League program this year.

Mine walkout over new bill comes to end

COSHOCTON, Ohio (AP) - More than 2,000 eastern Ohio strip mine workers began returning to work early today, following a 24-hour walkout to protest a proposed federal strip mine reclamation law.

Carl Evans, president of United Mine Workers Local 1365 at the Broken Arrow Coal Co. near Coshocton, said he received a telegram from the union's district office Tuesday ordering him to "get the men back to work."

Evans noted that the wildcat walkout was only intended to last 24 hours. "We had already planned to go back to work," he said. Strip mine employes said they walked out Monday night to protest the proposed federal strip mine bill which is scheduled for a vote in the U.S. House this week. The federal bill was endorsed by UMW executive board late last week. International union officials said Monday night that they were against the walkout claiming the minders didn't "understand" the bill. Evans said he feels union officials will "come around to the miners side" if there is another walkout

"If they want to get re-elected they have to support the men, not the legislature," Evans said.

If adopted, the bill would establish mining and would require strict land reclamation.

UMW President Arnold Miller contends the bill would make mines in Ohio and other states with tough reclamation laws more competitive with mines in states with weaker standards.

Many union members, however, say they fear the bill will abolish strip mining by forcing mining companies into bankruptcy.

Antique show slated Aug. 3-4

The 80th annual Highland County Historical Society's antique show will be held this year, as usual, at the Highland County Fairgrounds. The popular annual event will be held on Aug. 3-4. The hours on Saturday, August 3rd will be from 11 a.m. to 9 p.m., and on Sunday, Aug. 4 from 12 noon until 6 p.m.

The finest antique dealers in the country will be in attendance with a complete collection of antique items including furniture, glass, lamps and

Since its origination, the Highland County Historical Society has insisted on only inviting outstanding dealers who's merchandise is of top quality.

Delicious food will be served by the ladies of the society during both days of the show. The menu will include, turkey, ham and wiener sandwiches, homemade pies, cakes, potatoe salad, baked beans, and a variety of drinks. Profits from the antique show are used to operate the Historical Society

With about a month left before first tickets are to be sold, the headquarters office has not been flooded with applications from prospective ticket

When it is in full operation, agents selling tickets stand to realize as much as $6.5 million collectively each year in

About 43,000 application forms have been made available across the state, mainly in state liquor stores. About 6,000 forms have been returned, one third of the number expected.

"My objective was to license a minimum of 7,000 to 8,000 sales agents, ideally about 10,000," says John E. Kirkland Jr., lottery director.

In an effort to spur applications commission lawyers have come up with a streamlined form, and the Ohio legislature has contributed a statute permitting ticket sales by holders of liquor, beer and wine permits.

"Our position now is that virtually anyone who applies and has a legitimate business will be licensed," a lottery spokesman says.

Applications could be rejected for "anything more than a routine traffic violation," but commission standards specifically outlaw licensing persons who make a living at gambling, who have violated any lottery commission regulation or who have been found guilty of fraud, the spokesman says.

As a practical matter, the spokesman adds, about half the applications turned in have been approved, and the applicants will be licensed in the next two to three weeks, as fast as clerks can type

Agents will be licensed one year at a time to give the commission a chance to review an outlet's performance.

"We will be looking at ticket sales and making judgements," the spokesman said. "We will make the franchise available to someone else in the vicinity if necessary.'

Application requires a snapshot of the proposed outlet, and Kirkland believes obtaining the picture may be

"That store owner doesn't want to get stuck if there's a fraudulent ticket,' Blum said.

The auditor's office has objected to the prospect of $500,000 of state funds being paid out across Ohio each week without controls.

Ticket agents are to receive five per cent of their gross sales in addition to bonuses for selling winning tickets. Some merchants say that's not much.

"A lot of people feel it will be too Only about 60 applicants have been much paper work in view of the fact they'll make only about two cents a ticket," says Russell Fronk, manager of a liquor store in Painesville.

The majority of tavern owners will sell the tickets only as conveniences to their customers, says another.

"You certainly can't make any money on them at five per cent," says Mentor bar owner Paul Chase.

Kirkland disagrees. "Sales agents also will share in the luck of lottery winners," he says. "Bonuses for selling the millionaire pool winning ticket will be $10,000 with proportionate awards for other major winnings.'

Retail stores will profit from offering tickets, he maintains. He says a state survey shows 71 per cent of Ohio adults

Frank Sinatra leaves Aussies

SYDNEY, Australia (AP) — Frank Sinatra leaves Australia today after a final concert beset by trade union problems right up until a few hours before it began.

Sinatra, who missed a concert in Melbourne, last week threatened to call off his Australian tour-his first in this country in 13 years-after a clash with the Australian press.

Sinatra agreed to a nationwide telecast free of charge to make up for the missed Melbourne concert but the unions would not agree unless conditions were met.

The musicians said they must be paid for the missed concert and extra for the telecast and the telecast had to be prefaced by a statement that it was made possible by the unions concerned.

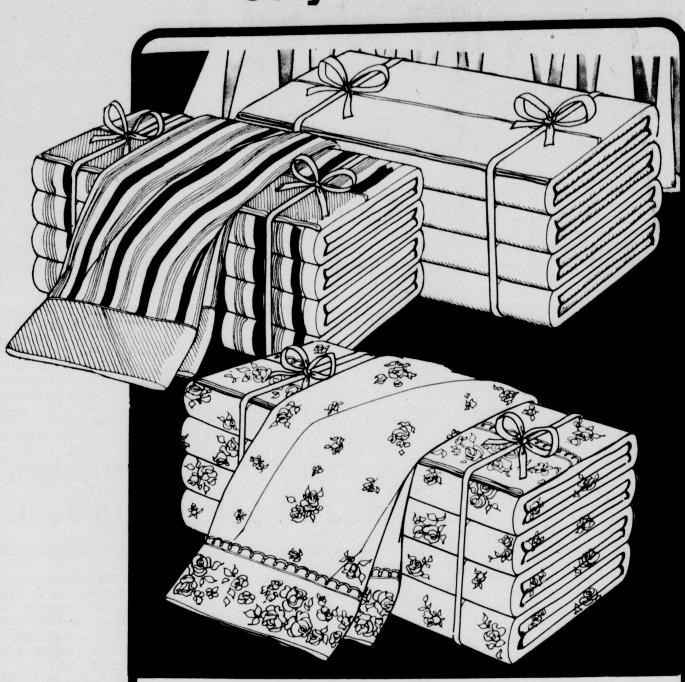

Sinatra agreed to the conditions after three hours of talks. During the show, he said, "Whether I was right or wrong the fact remains that they tried to keep me from saying what I thought and I think that's the thing we've got to fight all the time."

Confrontation expected at Hall of Fame game

By The Associated Press

The battle lines have been drawn. The date is July 27, the site Canton,

That is when the annual Hall of Fame Game will be played between the St. Louis Cardinals and Buffalo Bills, and National Football League Players Association and the club owners.

Meanwhile, there were indications Tuesday from both sides that negotiations might be resumed later this week, and the first major rift in the striking NFLPA's facade appeared at the camp of the Cincinnati Bengals.

The NFL Management Council, bargaining agent for the 26 club owners, reaffirmed Tuesday that all exhibition games will be played—even if that means lineups composed of rookies, free agents and the handful of veterans who have crossed picket lines.

And the first of those exhibition games in the Hall of Fame contest at Canton.

The NFLPA has said that it would take steps to see that the exhibition games are not played until a settlement in the dispute is reached. That presumably means a picket line of veterans.

The Canton game is the only one still scheduled for the opening week of exhibition play, since the July 26 College All-Star Game has already been scratched.

St. Louis Coach Don Coryell said he would double up on drills to get his players ready for the exhibition game.

Berra selects pitching staff

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) - Los Angeles Dodger right-handers Andy Messersmith, 10-2, and reliever Mike Marshall, 11-4, were among eight National League pitchers named today by Manager Yogi Berra for next Tuesday's All-Star baseball game at Pittsburgh

Only Messersmith and Philadelphia left-hander Steve Carlton, 11-7, have been on previous All-Star squads. Messersmith was on the 1971 American League team but did not pitch. Carlson pitched in the 1968 and 1972 games and got credit for a 9-3 victory in 1969.

Other selections by Berra, the New York Met manager, were left-handers Ken Brett of Pittsburgh, 11-6, and Jon Matlack of New York, 8-6, and righthanders Buzz Capra of Atlanta, 9-4, Lynn McGlothen of St. Louis, 12-5, and Steve Rogers of Montreal, 10-10.

Marshall, at 31 the oldest of the NL All-Star pitching choices, has appeared in 61 games and set a major league record by pitching in 13 straight from June 18 to July 3. The former Montreal reliever has 13 saves and an earned-run average of 2.39 for 113 innings.

Messersmith, 28, and Carlton, 29, are among the league leaders in strikeouts. Messersmith's ERA is 1.96 and Carlton's 3.11.

there until the strike is settled. Meanwhile, spokesmen for federal mediator James Scearce and the two that is when a major confrontation will sides indicated that they might soon take place between the striking return to the bargaining table, perhaps before the weekend.

Bengals crack players' strike

WILMINGTON, Ohio (AP) - The Cincinnati Bengals appear to have made the first major crack in the National Football League Players Association strike.

A number of veterans, as well as rookies, have reported to training camp, and Coach and General Manager Paul Brown announced Tuesday night that those players in camp have voted 30-0 against allowing NFLPA representatives into camp today to talk to them.

Back in Cincinnati, player representative Pat Matson said he was almost discouraged enough to quit.

"I don't even know if I'll bother to go to the meeting myself," said the 245pound, nine-year veteran offensive

Matson said he was even further discouraged following the second day of workouts by some 20 veterans.

'A number of them - and I won't say who they are - said they were going ahead and report Tuesday or so. I'm really disheartened, you know. You try to get a bunch of guys to stand up for principles and they don't.

"I guess I'll have to stay out as long as there's one guy still out. I don't get paid for this, and I thought I had some help. All I get is a lot of flak-and the fans have been pretty busy. They can be vicious."

Matson said he had tried to telephone some veterans at the Wilmington College camp.

"I talked to Royce Berry the other night. But it wasn't much of a conversation," he said.

Berry, a defensive end and team captain, said he did not go along with player demands and said the association "was just muddying up the waters with freedom issues while money was the real issue. "I don't know what's different about the Cincinnati team," said Matson, nothing that "1,260 other NFL players are staying out.

Other veterans who have reported include center Bob Johnson and tight end Bob Trumpy.

Merchants take second place

Jeff Merchants captured second place in the Larry Fugate Benefit Softball Tournament. Bob Thomas carried a batting average of .577 and banged out 15 hits in the tourney. He received a trophy for the most hits.

Other top hitters for the Merchants were Pete Robinson with a .609 average, Danny Huffman with a .565 average and Ervin Perry swatted .500. Trenac of Green County came in first, while Colonial Stair finished third.

Reds gain on Dodgers

By The Associated Press

The Los Angeles Dodgers hold a commanding lead in the National League West pennant race-but the Cincinnati Reds hold the psychological advantage. That's Sparky Anderson's opinion, anyway.

"I'll be honest, I don't think they'll ever stop thinking of us," Anderson said Tuesday night after his Reds beat the St. Louis Cardinals 12-7. "They want us so far back of them, it's pitiful.

Right now, the Reds are 61/2 games behind the Dodgers because Los Angeles lost an 8-7 decision to the Montreal Expos Tuesday night. Anderson remembers when his team was 101/2 games behind not too long ago. "If we start scoring runs, like I've said, we've got a shot at it," Anderson said. "We had one streak not too long ago when we hit .210 for 28 games."

The Dodgers' latest loss was their fourth in five games and their lead is now their smallest since June 29.

In the other National League games, the Pittsburgh Pirates beat the Houston Astros 6-2; the Chicago Cubs tripped the Atlanta Braves 7-2; the San Diego Padres turned back the Philadelphia Phillies 5-4 and the San Francisco Giants routed the New York Mets 9-4.

Expos 8, Dodgers 7 Willie Davis' fifth hit tied the game in sacrifice fly, giving Montreal a wild victory over Los Angeles.

Davis singled home pinch runner Boots Day and sent Larry Lintz to third base. Singleton then drove a sacrifice fly off reliever Charlie Hough for the game-winner.

Pirates 6, Astros 2

Jim Rooker scattered eight hits and Ed Kirkpatrick drove in a pair of runs with a basesloaded single to key Pittsburgh's victory over Houston.

Kirkpatrick's two-run single off loser Larry Dierker, 6-5, came in the third inning when Pittsburgh scored four runs to erase a 2-1 deficit.

Dizzy Dean succumbs

RENO, Nev. (AP) — Dizzy Dean, an Arkansas farm boy who pitched his way into baseball's Hall of Fame with a blazing fastball, winning the admiration of millions with a down-home twang and zest for life that sometimes made managers pale, died early today. He was 64.

Dean, who with his brother Paul formed a feared pitching duo for the "Gashouse Gang" St. Louis Cardinals in the 1930s, died at St. Mary's Hospital, two days after suffering a severe heart attack.

Dizzy Dean, a former migratory cotton picker who claimed he only went through the second grade, was one of baseball's great pitchers. But he might have reached much greater heights if an injury had not destroyed his effectiveness at age 27, when he should have only begun to reach his peak.

He was perhaps baseball's most eccentric character since the days of Rube Waddell, early in the 20th cen-

Waddell sometimes called in all the outfielders in exhibitions, then struck out the side. Dizzy preferred to fill the bases, then fan the side. He also was known to break curfew and other rules on occasion.

He was a big right-hander who had a blazing fast ball and bragged about it. He used to tell the hitters when the fast ball was coming, then fire it past them. He struck out 17 batters in one gamethen a record—and led the National League in strikeouts four straight

Skirmishes erupt in Milwaukee game

By The Associated Press

Tens of players spilled onto the field. paired off in half a dozen skirmishes and traded lots of punches in Milwaukee, after the Brewers' Bob Coluccio, target of a brushback pitch, was hit in the head.

The excitement in Milwaukee began when Coluccio came up to the plate in the seventh inning after striking singles in his three previous at bats. Ray Corbin was on the mound for Minnesota. One of Corbin's pitches struck Coluccio, dropping him to the dirt and knocking his helmet 10 feet away.

"I was just trying to brush him back," Corbin said after the Brewers edged the Twins 5-4. "Certainly, I'm sorry about what happened.

Elsewhere in the American League, the California Angels routed the Cleveland Indians 11-2; the Oakland A's nipped the Baltimore Orioles 4-3; the New York Yankees blanked the Texas Rangers 2-0; the Kansas City Royals shaded the Boston Red Sox 5-4 and the Chicago White Sox downed the Detroit Tigers 6-0.

Coluccio was knocked unconscious for several moments, but was able to leave the field under his own power. He was taken to the hospital for precautionary X rays.

Angels 11, Indians 2

After 10 straight losses under new manager Dick Williams, California has won five of its last six, including the Angels' romp over Cleveland.

The big hitter Tuesday night was Joe Lahoud, with a pair of two-run homers in support of Frank Tanana's six-inning relief stint.

Royals 5, Red Sox 4

After some early trouble, Steve Busby made a lot of good pitches. Busby's manager then made a good pitch of his own.

"If Buzz is left off the All-Star team, the American League has made a mistake," said Kansas City Manager Jack McKeon.

Yankees 2, Rangers 0 George "Doc" Medich continued his recent domination over Texas.

Medich tossed a five-hitter and Sandy Alomar and Bobby Murcer drove in third-inning runs off 19-year-old David Clyde, leading New York past Texas.

White Sox 6, Tigers 0 Chicago had more home runs than Detroit had hits. Dick Allen, with a three-run homer, Bill Melton, with a two-run shot, and Brian Downing, with a solo blast took care of the homers. Jim Kaat took care of the Tigers,

*AQJ873 The bidding:

West

Opening lead — six of clubs.

North

There's nothing unusual about declarer playing a contract he can't make against proper defense. But since the opponents don't always defend perfectly, some of these outsized contracts come home, deal where South made six clubs.

West had no clear-cut lead and chose a trump as his opening salvo. Declarer saw that normal play would surely lead to down one, so he embarked on a scheme that gave him a chance for the contract.

He won the trump in dummy and led a spade, losing the queen to the king. West could have ended matters then and there by returning a spade, but he led another trump instead.

This proved fatal when South proceeded to execute a squeeze against East. He played three more rounds of trumps and cashed three heart tricks, ending in his hand, to produce this position:

North

West East ♠98 ♦ Q 10 8 South

AJ

♦ A 5

When South now played his last trump and discarded a spade from dummy, East could not discard successfully. As a result, South made the slam.

Although a good case can be made for West to return a spade which is what happened in this at trick three instead of a trump, this does not detract from the credit due South for his enterprising scheme. Larceny of this sort is a legitimate part of the game and, in effect, South did nothing more than implement his license to steal.

Cocktail Tasting 2-Year-Old think it is smart to give their two-year old child a taste of their cocktail before dinner. They are proud that my grandchild can distinguish between Scotch and bourbon. How do you feel about this nonsense?

Grandma, Conn. Dear "Grandma"

I have seen such patterns of pseudo-sophistication in many young people. Fortunately, parents of youngsters usually give up this parlor game before

You can be sure that the alcohol-tasting will inevitably be discouraged by the child's

I agree with you that the practice may have some built-in dangers and that it most certainly should be stopped.

Alcoholism is a very strange disease. How deeply rooted it is in childhood patterns has never been clearly established. You are wise to voice your objection without introducing conflict between you and your children.

My mother-in-law has been told that she has Hashimoto's disease. I noticed, when filling out her Medicare form, her doctor checked "No" in answer to the question, "Is the patient

My daughter and her husband cured?" His answer to me was not clear. We are concerned. Mrs. J. B., Fla.

Dear Mrs. B.:

Hashimoto's disease, named after the man who described it, is a very special type of disorder of the thyroid gland.

Goiter, an enlargement of the thyroid gland, and lessened activity of the thyroid, or hypothyroidism, are associated with this condition.

The reason that your motherin-law's doctor said "No" in answer to the printed question is because lifelong treatment is necessary to control this disorder.

There are a number of excellent ways of treating this, with dessicated thyroid and other drugs.

As I often suggest, when there is confusion about any medical problem, open and frank discussion with the doctor is necessary in order to remove anxiety and clarify the problem.

Soil survey reports are available

Congressman William H. Harsha today announced that he has a limited number of copies of the recently released Fayette County Soil Survey Report which he is making available to county residents.

The soil survey report is a complete and detailed inventory of the many and varied soils found in the county. It explains in depth the location and properties of the soils and explains how these properties influence the potential uses and capabilities of a given land area. Extensive maps are also included.

Harsha stressed the significance of the report as a comprehensive guide for proper use of the land for agriculture, construction of homes, streets and highways and all types of commercial, industrial, residential and recreational uses.

Residents of Fayette County wishing to obtain a copy of the survey, to be distributed on a first come, first serve basis, can do so by writing to Congressman Harsha at 2457 Rayburn House Office Building, Washington,

No lottery at fair

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) - The sale of any type of lottery ticket on county or state fairgrounds is illegal, according to Ohio Agriculture Director Gene Abercrombie.

'We have had to stop auto raffles, bingo games and other games of this type in the past," Abercrombie said, "so I would have to stop the selling of lottery tickets."

He said he would want a legal opinion before allowing a drawing at a fair. Abercrombie said he first raised the question of a drawing's legality several weeks ago at a meeting of the Ohio Exposition Commission, which operates the state fair.

The commission has asked Atty. Gen. William Brown for an informal opinion. Brown's office said a reply is expected in a few weeks.

The commission had proposed that the first lottery drawing be held Aug. 22 during the Ohio State Fair.

Dead woman was unhappy

AKRON, Ohio (AP) - Christine Chubbuck, the Florida television personality who committed suicide on the air, has been described by a former roommate as "very brilliant, but never terribly happy.

Mrs. Durand Pope, who now owns a business in Hudson, Ohio, shared an apartment with Miss Chubbuck for two years in Cleveland.

Miss Chubbuck died early Tuesday in a Sarasota, Fla., hospital, 14 hours after she shot herself in the head while conducting a news program on WXLT-TV in Sarasota.

Mrs. Pope remembered the Hudson native as "a wonderful person, very brilliant, but never terribly happy.'

Miss Chubbuck began college at Miami of Ohio, majoring in theater arts. She switched to Endicott Junior College in Beverly, Mass., and graduated from Boston University. Her father, George Chubbuck, still lives in Hudson.

Set agents for lottery

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP)— The Ohio Lottery Commission says it is beginning today to deliver licenses to the first 1,000 ticket sales agents whose applications have been approved.

The commission said these are the first of 10,000 agents who will be licensed eventually.

Commissioners said Tuesday they hope the agents will sell 10 to 11 million tickets the first week after sales start Aug. 12. Normal weekly sales are expected to run from five to six million

The first drawing is set for Aug. 22 at the Parmatown Shopping Center in suburban Parma.

Meanwhile, an official of the state attorney general's office said he believes the commission can legally sell lottery tickets on the state fairgrounds and conduct a lottery drawing at the state fair Aug. 29.
